THE NOBLE COLLECTION
Winter 1996/97

Take a Trip Through History...In Our Catalog

Travel back to when arms and armour were more than just weapons. More than just instruments of offense and defense, they were individualized statements of the men who wore them. Unique designs that often denoted rank, status and power of kings and law-makers, barbarians and law-breakers, now available to you, through the Noble Collection.

Maybe you plan to participate in re-enactments of past battles, or you're fascinated by the craftsmanship of fine weaponry. Perhaps your interest lies in building a private collection, or simply displaying these beautiful objects as decoration. Whatever your reason, the Noble Collection can help you bring history and legend to life.

We offer you museum quality recreations of many of the most famous armaments known. Each piece is constructed of the finest materials by skilled craftsmen who work in the original traditions that have been passed down over the centuries.

Collect the Swords of History and Fantasy

Discover magnificent re-creations of actual museum pieces, even the most cherished weapons of the Samurai. From the pages of myth and chivalry come our unique interpretations of the legendary swords of King Arthur and Robin Hood, Lancelot and the Barbarian King. Also, fantasy and movie reproductions made to the highest quality and exacting detail. This is our Collector's Series of Swords. To identify these beautifully crafted, intricately detailed blades, look for the special collector's series crest on each page where they appear. Nowhere else can you find such a large selection of outstanding quality reproductions.

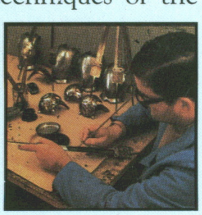
We invite you to experience these fine pieces firsthand with absolutely no risk to you. Each is backed by our ironclad satisfaction guarantee and is available for purchase with a convenient interest-free payment plan. Now there is no reason not to begin or add to your collection of the swords of history and fantasy.

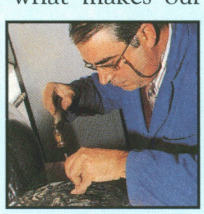
Take Advantage of our Payment Plan

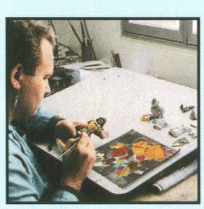
Most pieces in our collection are now available with a convenient interest-free payment plan. This has become the most popular way of starting a collection of our fine reproductions. To use this method of payment, look for the items that feature a special payment plan box, specifying the amount of the low monthly payments. When you order, your selection is immediately shipped, then your charge card is billed in five convenient monthly installments. Please see the order form for all details and restrictions.

How these Swords are Crafted

The time-honored artistry of the swordmakers of Toledo, Spain...the techniques of the Japanese mastercraftsman, this is what makes our Collector's Series of swords reknowned for unsurpassed quality. The painstaking process begins with a master engraver who creates a cast using an original hilt. The original mold is given the utmost attention so that no detail is neglected. The hilts are shaped from this original piece and are then hand-finished and polished. The blade of the sword is carefully shaped from the finest 420 stainless steel by a craftsman using a grinding wheel and is fully tempered to 48-53 Rockwell hardness so that it is more durable than the original. After the blade is etched and polished, the hilt is hand-fitted onto its tang.







Dear friends,

It's so hard to believe that the holiday season is already here. As always, it brings us true pleasure to offer you the highest quality historical reproductions for your gift giving needs. We not only have included the best items from our 1996 collection but we have also added a number of exciting products for this special holiday edition of our catalog. This year's favorites have been the Sword of Sir William Wallace from the motion picture epic, Braveheart, and our new collection of fantasy swords that are truly remarkable works. Of course our selections of reproductions of armour, miniatures, samurai and medieval weapons will make excellent gifts.

We are very happy with the new products added to this seasons catalog. First we have been able to bring you the exact recreation of the sword from the motion picture Highlander. Also we have two new exquisite pieces, the Sword of Odin and the Dark Knight. For your convenience, we have included a postage paid envelope and order form in the center of the catalog. Or, if you prefer, you can order any item by calling our toll free order line at 1-800-8NOBLE8 (1-800-866-2538). We would like to take this opportunity to wish you the most for this holiday season.

The Sword of the Barbarian

Legend tells of a great Barbarian-King who arose to conquer and rule an ancient world of anarchy and ruin. Wrecking havoc on wicked enemies and giant serpents, he carved order out of chaos. His only weapon was an imposing double-edged blade with the handle in the form of a fabulous two headed, winged dragon crowned with a fiery green gem. The legend of the Barbarian lives on in this unique creation.

The Sword of the Barbarian is made of tempered stainless steel and bronze. Its unique guard is in the form of a dragon's wings in flight. The sword measures 46 inches in length.

Sword of the Musketeers

"All for one and one for all."

This was the cry of the most noble of the musketeers who protected the French monarchy in the 17th Century from the treasonous Cardinal Richelieu and his allies. Arthos, Parthos and Aramis, also known as The Three Musketeers, were legendary for their loyalty to the French Crown and their exceptional swordsmanship.

This magnificent rapier is constructed to honor these three brave men. Its flawless blade is forged by the master swordmakers in Toledo, Spain out of tempered 420 stainless steel . The hilt and cup of the sword are richly detailed and plated in silver and 24-karat gold. The gold wire wrapped handle is encrusted with royal French Fleur-de-Lis and a sculptured pommel crowns this amazing creation. This 46 inch sword combines the simple beauty of a rapier with the detail and craftsmanship of a fine collector's piece.

The Japanese

The Tachi sword originated hundreds of years ago when the Japanese realized the benefits of long curved blades. They since have become a symbol of status due to the beauty of their decorative sheaths and their elaborate ornamentation.

The Noble Collection offers five Tachis of unsurpassed quality. Each is a hand-crafted recreation of the utmost precision. The scabbards are unblemished works of beauty and the blades are made of fully tempered, hand-polished 420 C stainless steel.

A. Rosewood Tachi

Highly regarded as the most ornate ceremonial Japanese sword, this extraordinary tachi has a stunning brown wood scabbard and light blue braiding around the grip and mounts. Its naturally simple magnificence allows for the most beautiful display piece, yet its sharp blade makes a formidable usable lethal weapon. It measures 40 inches in length and is ornamented with silver plated guard and fittings and a tassel that hangs from the pommel of the sword.

B. Rectangular Stand

This exquisite stand is made of fine wood that is lacquered to a flawless finish. A perfect stand for any of the Tachis, it measures 27 inches in height. It also makes a great display stand for katanas.

MT6015..... $80

C. Ivory Handle Tachi

This highly ornate tachi follows a traditional trend of bright colors used at times to capture attention during ceremonies. Samurai on horseback battle across the simulated ivory handle in a conventional Japanese battle scene. The detail on the handle is then outlined with vibrant hand painted enamelling. The tsuba and fittings on this masterpiece are plated in 24-karat gold. A matching wakizashi (short sword), fashioned in a tachi format, complements this sword perfectly. Make this set the center of attention in your collection.

The sword of the samurai has been elevated to a symbol of temporal power and justice, and to many it has acquired a spiritual status. It has been described as the very soul of the samurai warrior.

The history of these swords spans one and one half millennia. It is a story of the perfection of steel, and the development of a unique artifact which is at once holy, dreadful and beautiful.

Our samurai weapons are hand-crafted re-creations of the utmost precision. The scabbards are painstakingly shaped and lacquered to a perfect finish. The blades are made of hand-polished 420C stainless steel that is tempered to a hardness of 52 RHc. These swords come fully-sharpened with a cloud or wave pattern on their blades.

Katana- this sword measures over three feet in length. It was the primary fighting tool used by the samurai.
Wakizashi-a sword much like the katana but measuring about 10 inches shorter, it was used as an auxiliary weapon.
Daisho-the katana and wakizashi together are known as a Daisho.
Tanto-the small dagger used by the samurai.

THE JADE SAMURAI SET

Eastern tradition has a high spiritual regard for jade, one that goes beyond its shade or function. So it is fitting that this color would be a most natural complement to the samurai's weapon.

The Noble Collection is proud to offer this 3-tiered display of jade and gold colored katana (37"), wakizashi (26") and tanto (14") which are made of the highest quality tempered stainless steel. The bright and beautiful color will focus all attention on these marvelous weapons wherever they are displayed.

TRADITIONAL SHIRASAYA SET

The beauty of the shirasaya is in its simplicity, yet no other samurai blade is as unique and deadly. Masterfully crafted and graceful, it is reknowned as the ultimate samurai weapon for the incredible sharp blade it conceals in a seemingly harmless staff. The scabbard and handle are lightly finished and made from a single piece of wood to match perfectly. A blood groove runs down the blade which features a "midare-ba" (confused) pattern temper-line. This pattern is the most difficult to construct and temper. Only when removed from their scabbards do these swords hint of their lethal qualities.

Now available as a set in katana (37") and wakizashi (26") length with a matching display, they will stand as a testament to a true enthusiast's love for the samurai blade.

BRAVEHEART™

During a time of political upheaval, corruption in the church and a crumbling feudal system, one brave warrior battled an unjust oppressor for freedom. William Wallace, a Scottish knight, brought a nation together against their common enemy. He was responsible for igniting the spark of nationalism during a time of brutal anarchy and waged a war for Scottish independence.

The Noble Collection is proud to offer the reproduction of the Sword of William Wallace, from the motion picture epic, Braveheart™. This outstanding recreation of an early claymore sword that was used in Scotland during the Middle Ages stands as a testament to one of the greatest film epics in motion picture history. It is made of tempered 420 stainless steel and a high quality leather wrapping. This beautiful sword is destined to be one of the most extraordinary movie collectables ever.
